

Homework Ideas

Read aloud to each other
Discuss what you read and ask deep comprehension questions of each other
Practice alphabetizing to the third and fourth letters
Practice writing letters
Practice proofreading
Practice looking for the author's main idea and purpose for the article/story
Practice vocabulary and grammar
Discuss allowances and plans for spending it
Count Money, Make change
Practice fractions and decimals
Measure objects, distances
Teach your child how to make a budget and live by it
Cooking, read recipes, measure, clean up
Use calculators
Chores to build feelings of responsibility
Activities with maps and globes
Activities with dictionaries and encyclopedias
Games involving words and numbers
Trips to the library
Family trips to museums, historical spots, etc.
Extra drill on spelling, math facts, vocabulary
Puzzles, word and jigsaw
Activities with newspapers
Discriminating T.V. viewing
Tell stories
Arts and crafts activities, sewing, latch hook, woodworking
Educational books and commercial workbooks
Practice multiplication and division facts
Practice rounding and place value
Practice probability
Practice letting your child think for themselves

